

Dinner has to happen anyway.

100 recipes for the stretch of life when there is a small person who needs feeding at six, an adult who has not eaten properly since breakfast, and about twenty minutes between the two.

Nothing takes over twenty minutes from a cold start. Everything is built on whole ingredients. Every recipe leaves one pan or one basket behind — and ends by telling you how to lift a toddler’s portion out of that same pan, before the salt and before the chilli.

The 20-Minute Table

A hundred fast, whole-food recipes for the years when dinner has to happen anyway.

Twenty minutes, from a cold start.
One pan or one basket, and that is the washing up.
A toddler’s portion out of the same pan.
